“The time commitment is usually less than 90 minutes every other month and the cost per session is generally $300 to $700.”

Fortunately, with the lightning-fast advancements antiaging technologies and techniques have enjoyed in the last five years, patients can expect even easier and more effective options for the next facelift go-round.

Fernandez is delighted with the new look she has for 2023.

“It’s night and day, but subtle,” she said. “It gave me back my natural contours.”

She is ready to put on a new face to face future new years.

“I would not hesitate,” she said. “I’m not going to age gracefully. I will fight it every step of the way.”
